LOUIS BLANC INTERVIEWED.

NEW YORK, June 22.—A Versailles correspondent of the Herald has had an interview with Louis Blanc. The Veteran politician speaks calmly and sensibly, and regards the prospects of the permanency and success of the Republic as good. He thinks there are constitutional difficulties in the way of the restoration of the monarchy. The Napoleons are out of the question. The Count de Chambord is to be propounded from Paris. There, he believes, will be the National Assembly to-morrow the republic be confirmed, would bring about something like a reign of terror. Every friend of France, would take part, and the struggle would be far more terrible than the formation of the Commune.

CONDITION OF THE PUBLIC MIND NOW.

A Paris letter-writer says: "The telegraphic reports sent from Versailles have, of necessity, been greatly exaggerated; but now that we have an opportunity to judge for ourselves, we find that the terrible conduct of the numerous soldiers lettered to have been entirely destroyed have received very slight damage." Of the "terrible conduct" of the Communists, the same remains intact, but the Porte St. Martin is merely a heap of rubble, as well as the large Conservatoire Dentaire, adjoining the Chatelet. The Louvre is burned out; all the walls are standing, and the roofs and floors are gone; the Tuileries is in ruins; the Hotel de Ville is a heap of ruins, as is the Palais de Justice. The Legion

The Common Council held a short session last evening, to continue the consideration of the Appropriation bill. The Council, Mr. Gleason, occupied the chair, and there were present Aldermen Ald. Hesing—Yeas, 20. Nays, 0.

Ald. Hesing moved that the office of Fire Warden be abolished, and that the duties of the office be performed by the Chief Engineer.

Ald. Heaver thought the office should be retained.

Ald. Hesing replied that the office was a sinecure, and that the duties could be performed by the Chief Engineer.

Ald. Heaver thought the office should be retained, as the Fire Warden was the only man who could tell whether a fire was of incendiary origin or not.

Ald. Hesing said that the Fire Warden was not required to be present at fires, and that the Chief Engineer was the proper person to investigate the origin of fires.

Ald. Heaver thought the Fire Warden was required to be present at fires, and that the Chief Engineer was not.

COMMENCEMENT.

The Sixteenth Annual Commencement exercises of the Northwestern Female College, at Evanston, took place, yesterday, at the old college building, to which the institution will continue to belong so as to accord the alumnæ of the college opportunity. The interior of the chapel was tastefully decorated with numerous wreaths and festoons of flowers and evergreens, a large wreath, containing the figures "'71," adorning the front wall. On the platform were seated the Boards of Trustees of the old and new institutions, Prof. Jones, Secretary of the faculty, and others. Upon the right of the platform was the Alumnæ Association, and reserved seats for the graduating class.

MUSICAL CONCERT.

The concert on Wednesday evening at the Presbyterian Church, in aid of the Female College, was a very successful affair. The church was filled by a fashionable audience, and the programme was rendered in a manner that elicited frequent applause. Miss Emma Hunt, of Evanston, Miss Hattie Hosmer, Miss Fannie Hosmer, Miss Ella Hosmer, Miss Mary Hosmer, Miss Kate Hosmer, Miss Mary Wilson, Miss Mary Hunt, Miss Ella Hosmer, Miss Anna E.
